

Dialogues.

In a café.

Waiter: Good afternoon! What can I get you?

Max: I'd like the tomato soup, please.

Waiter: Tomato soup...And would you like anything else?

Max: Yes, I'd like the chicken curry with rice, please.

Waiter: Certainly. And what would you like to drink?

Max: I'd like some fizzy orange, please.

Waiter: Thank you...

Waiter: Now would you like a dessert?

Max: Yes, please. I'd like some fruit salad.

Waiter: Can I have the bill, please?

Waiter: Yes, certainly.

Waiter: Right. That's £12.50, please.

Max: Here you are.

Waiter: And here's your change.

Buying a ticket.

Andrew: Good morning.

Man: Can I help you?

Andrew: Yes, I'd like a ticket to Brighton, please.

Man: Single or return?

Andrew: Return, please.

Man: That's £25.60.

Andrew: Here you are.

Man: And here's your change.

Andrew: What time the next train leave?

Man: It leaves at six.

Andrew: What platform does it leave from?

Man: Platform 7.

Andrew: How long does the journey take?

Man: About one hour.

Andrew: Thanks. Bye.

Man: You're welcome. Good bye.

At the ticket office.

Philip: Good afternoon.

Woman: Can I help you?

Philip: Yes, I'd like a single to Liverpool, please.

Woman: That's £16.32.

Philip: That's very expensive!

Woman: Yes, I know... but...

Philip: Oh... Sorry... Here you are.

Woman: And here's your change.

Philip: What time the next coach leave?

Woman: There's a coach every ten minutes. It leaves at half past four.

Philip: What bay does the coach leave from?

Woman: It leaves from bay 3.

Philip: How long does the journey take?

Woman: About 25 minutes.

Philip: Thanks. Bye.

Woman: You're welcome. Good bye.